

UNIVERSITÄT
LEIPZIG

Medizinische Fakultät

Student assistant/ research assistant for research office

Introduction

The Innovation Center for Computer Assisted Surgery (iCCAS) was founded in 2005 as one of six Centers for Innovation Competence (ZIK) at Germany's second oldest medical faculty and university.

iCCAS has since developed into an internationally recognized, interdisciplinary research center.

Job description

- Support in the maintenance of the technical equipment and inventory of the institute
- Technical support for events
- Support with the recording, inventory and operation of technical equipment (medical technology, computers, etc.)

Requirements

- Technology-related studies (e.g. computer science, engineering or similar)
- Very good knowledge of operating systems (Windows, Linux)
- Very good knowledge of server administration
- Independence, diligence and reliability
- Business fluent in German
- very good knowledge of English

Contact

University of Leipzig

Innovation Center Computer Assisted Surgery (iCCAS)

Contact person: Frederik Krabbes

E-Mail: bewerbung@iccas.de

Phone.: 0341 97 12032